making IT happen

South View Solutions (SVS) is a software and consultancy company offering cost effective IT solutions to organisations working within the social housing sector. Our extensive background of working with local authority housing departments and housing organisations gives us exactly the experience needed to fully understand your requirements.

Our Company

We have a genuine interest and passion for the social housing sector which makes the job of communicating requirements both straightforward and productive right from the start. We like to share ideas and experiences and find that this approach leads to a solution which matches your needs as well as responding to the heavy demands of cost, efficiency and best practice which all housing organisations have to work to.

Our software solutions are all developed using the latest Microsoft tools and continual investment ensures that they remain portable and scalable; making them suitable for even the largest of organisations.

Our Approach

We aim to provide IT solutions which allow organisations to build on their own existing IT infrastructures, providing an immediate cost benefit. This could be a requirement to link to external systems such as Document Management or GIS (Graphical Information Systems). It could be to empower staff further by deploying a mobile working strategy or to design forms for collating survey data of any kind. Equally, it could be that your organisation has a requirement to extract data from one system to another. SVS has IT solutions to meet all these requirements.

We know that no two organisations are the same and because of this, we are happy to offer additional consultancy services to help specify bespoke changes which can make all the difference. Whether this is automating the entry of data into a legacy system, providing a secure interface between third party systems such as a contractor or finance system or extracting business information from a corporate database to a management reporting tool, we can help. We are always keen to discuss new projects and developments whether you are a long standing SVS customer or new to us.

Our Solutions

SVS offer a range of solutions specifically developed to help you take your business forward. Many organisations have struggled with the technical difficulty and the operational impact of trying to make relevant information available to the right people and, at the same time, make this as easy a process as possible. With SVS, this becomes a reality and staff can start to work more efficiently and effectively at the simple click of a button. Whether it's information from a document management system, housing data required for a mobile worker or data required for an all important survey, SVS have a solution that will meet your needs.

SVS Link2

SVS Link2 is a powerful and comprehensive integration tool designed to retrieve information from one system and make it immediately available in another. For example, if you are logged into your housing management system and want to retrieve asbestos details about a property from an external system, you can do this easily by making one single click. If you are logged into your corporate finance system and want to retrieve documents, images, photographs, plans or maps from a geographical information system, you can do this easily by making one single click. SVS Link2 can integrate data from systems which use a wide range of technologies and are even on different database platforms. Just think how much more flexibility this will give your business.

SVS OnSite

SVS OnSite is a scalable mobile working solution which can be tailored to meet your businesses needs. A robust client/server application, SVS OnSite has been developed to industry standards which ensure its compatibility with the wide range of devices running Microsoft Windows. Mobile workers have access, working either on or off line, to all core repairs information including gas servicing details as well as information relating to lettings, rents and arrears.

Just think how this single application could further empower your mobile workers to carry out all of their many tasks.

SVS Extract

SVS Extract is a hugely time saving and accurate data extraction tool developed to deal with large volumes of data. It is both easy to use and quick to configure allowing you to extract data from your housing management system to an industry standard access database from where you can interrogate and analyse a whole range of property and tenancy related data.

Just think what the savings in time alone could do for your business.
